

Greetings from Scrapbook Designer and Vision to be Organized.

Labor Day weekend has passed, the kids are back in school, and the first day of fall is just around the corner.

How do you plan to spend your September? Are you going to get back on track and complete those projects that you put off for the summer?

In this September Newsletter you will find a scrapbooking tip for Back to School pictures and an organizing tip for that great landing area for the school supplies.

Plus, check out the 2 coupons at the bottom of the newsletter to help you with your Scrapbook or Organizing project.

Thank you,

Christie Gelsomino

Scrapbook TIP: First Day of School Picture

Did you miss taking a picture of your child's first day of school because he/she didn't want their picture taken? Did you have too many other things on that first day to remember to take the picture? Wouldn't it be neat to have some nice Back to School pictures of your child?

Here is great suggestion to help you with that problem. Take the pictures this upcoming weekend! Go to your child's school when no one else is around and stand him/her in front of the school and voila! You have a picture to represent the first day of school. You and your child will be relaxed since it's the weekend. Plus, it's a great way to get some nice pictures of your child playing and really enjoying themselves. The pictures can be very casual and relaxed. You can take one real quick picture just to get that "First Day of School" picture or you can take many pictures and really capture the joy of your child's excitement with school.

Documenting this year's Back to School milestone can be a great pleasure with some awesome pictures taken of your child without the pressure of other kids seeing your child with their parents!

Enjoy the "Back to School" time and take some great pictures of your child!

Organize TIP: Organize a great Landing Area for the Kids School Supplies.

Developing a great landing area for the kids' school supplies can be vital in helping your kids to have a successful school year.

First, designate an area that is close to the door where the child enters when returning home from school.

Second, place a bench, baskets, a cabinet, or hooks on the wall that can store your child's backpack and school supplies.

Third, have an "IN" and "OUT" area for paperwork and/or homework. Does your child need paperwork reviewed or homework completed daily? Label with your kids names or with colorful fun shapes.

Fourth, work with your child so that they understand this "Landing Area." Be patient; it may take a few days or weeks for the child to get the understanding of this great system you have set up for them.

Fifth, Great Landing Area's = a Great School Year!
